MARKET COMMENTARY:

1. Local market had another volatile positive day on very low turnover due to global investors chasing the currency before profit taking in the last hour. We are moving into the long weekend ahead of short trading week to end the unique and eventful 2020. Energy and Property Trusts were the best sectors while Utilities and Health Care were the worst.

Local pandemic cluster in NSW maintains low new cases but the locations are spreading while the patient zero remains a mystery. NSW is having lockdown restrictions without having lockdown restrictions. NSW government is pushing their luck and let's hope we do remain lucky or we may be following VIC into another mess. Virus does not take holidays and people follow leaders. NSW leaders have shown the public that they don't always follow the rules and sadly we are seeing that the public doing the same.

US political mess has delivered an outgoing president veto a massive spending defense bill and threaten to do the same to the stimulus bill. The US economy is fading while the pandemic is not. More inaction and leadership delays will only make the US recovery cycle that much slower.

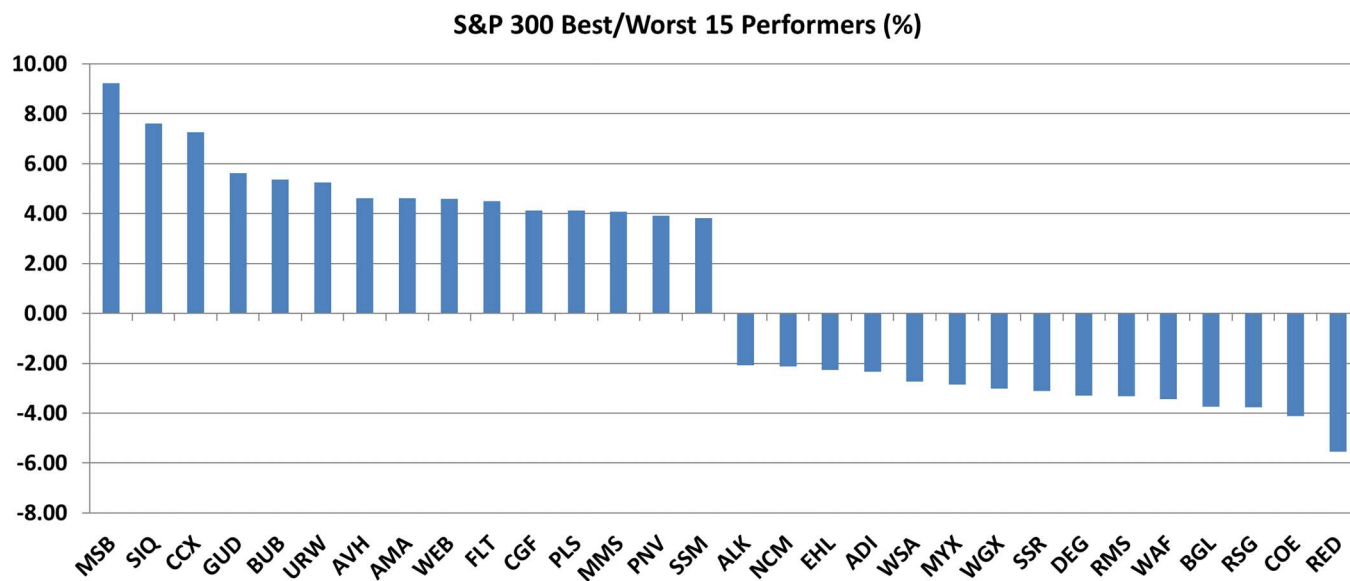

US 10 year bond yields are rising on inflation outlook. We expect inflation to hit over 3% in late Q1 to early Q2 period in 2021. It is easy for central banks to say that we will let inflation run but can they do that in a weak economy while expanding balance sheet and printing more money? Time will tell and we are going to see it soon enough. Currency debasement, money printing, and balance sheet expansion will raise the risk of losing control of the inflation in Q2. What would equities do if the bond yields were 2-3% in Q2? Not every well!

Overnight US markets finished positive on the back of banks outperforming and Brexit hope. Brexit deadline keeps getting pushed and at some point some deal will happen while UK is a mess in multiple dimensions. EU is on a fast track to socializing banks due to economic mess. Trump just vetoed defense bill and threatening to do the same with the weak stimulus bill. DOW has nearly halved its pop for the day while Russell is the best and NASDAQ is negative. Bonds and USD pulled back and that's positive for commodities, AUDUSD and Growth to Value rotation. Energy and Gold were the best sectors while Tech and Property were the worst. Fundies don't want it to fall apart before New Year while investors don't want to pay tax selling ahead of Jan in the US.

Remain nimble, contrarian and cautiously pragmatic with elevated global macro risks!!! Buckle up...it's going to get bumpy!!!

US markets overnight - Reuters

The S&P 500 closed barely in positive territory on Wednesday as an expected stimulus deal and falling jobless claims prompted investors to put their money into sectors most likely to benefit from the economy re-opening when it recovers from the global health crisis.

While the blue-chip Dow and small caps led the gains, the tech-heavy Nasdaq ended the session lower.

Economically vulnerable cyclical stocks, which were battered by mandated shutdowns and stand to benefit most from economic recovery, were outperforming. The rotation into cyclicals reflects a growing confidence in recovery from the pandemic recession, and began in fits and starts after promising late-stage vaccine data was released in early November.

"It's a very welcoming sign to see rotation into beaten down sectors," said Matthew Keator, managing partner in the Keator Group, a wealth management firm in Lenox, Massachusetts. "It speaks to the importance to valuation and the importance of diversification." "It also speaks to the hope that is out there," Keator added. "When you see oil pick up and travel and tourism industries pick up, it speaks to the market looking forward and pricing in that hope."

The possibility of a year-end shutdown of the U.S. government as well as the lack of new fiscal stimulus raised its head after President Donald Trump threatened to veto a $2.3 trillion funding package, which also includes a long-awaited $892 billion pandemic relief deal.

A Brexit trade deal between Britain and the European Union appeared more likely after a senior European diplomat told Reuters that an agreement could be imminent.

A raft of mixed economic data showed a welcome decrease in jobless claims and an uptick in new orders for durable goods, but also a pullback in consumer spending, dropping personal income and fading sentiment as the holiday shopping season nears its end amid a resurgent pandemic.

But languid inflation data provided further assurance that the U.S. Federal Reserve is likely to maintain its accommodative monetary policy at least until 2024.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 114.32 points, or 0.38%, to 30,129.83, the S&P 500 gained 2.75 points, or 0.07%, to 3,690.01 and the Nasdaq Composite dropped 36.80 points, or 0.29%, to 12,771.11. Of the 11 major sectors in the S&P 500, all but real estate tech and utilities ended the session in the black.

Drugmaker Pfizer Inc rose 1.9% following a deal with the United States to supply 100 million additional doses of its COVID-19 vaccine by July.

Supernus Pharmaceuticals Inc surged 14.6% after its experimental drug for attention deficit hyperactivity disorder met the main goal of a late-stage study in adults.

Shares of Nikola Corp fell 10.7% after it called off a deal to develop electric garbage trucks with recycling and waste disposal firm Republic Services Inc.

American Airlines Group and United Airlines Holdings rose 2.6% and 2.7%, respectively, after revealing plans to bring back furloughed employees this month. The airline industry is hoping to receive about $15 billion in payroll support as part of the pending fiscal relief package.

Advancing issues outnumbered declining ones on the NYSE by a 2.38-to-1 ratio; on Nasdaq, a 1.73-to-1 ratio favored advancers.

The S&P 500 posted 33 new 52-week highs and no new lows; the Nasdaq Composite recorded 280 new highs and two new lows.

Volume on U.S. exchanges was 12.22 billion shares, compared with the 11.52 billion average over the last 20 trading days.
