Due largely to lower late fees and higher than expected operating expenditure, especially around marketing spend, Afterpay reported earnings below consensus forecasts. Still, the general view of the fans was the result was still "solid". Citi (Hold) notes the key question post the result will be the level of operational expenditure investment (both employee and marketing) required going forward given the international expansion but, more importantly, increasing competition in the sector. Chief flag-waver, Morgan Stanley (Buy, $159 target) notes Afterpay is in the early stages of building its global platform. Staunch atheist, UBS (Sell, $30 target) points to yet another capital raising is taking place, and further selling from one of Lordy. A full suite of seven brokers cover Flight Centre and all but one of them has changed its rating post-result, two up, four down. The result was an absolute shocker, surprising no one. The reason for this seemingly headless chook response comes down to varying stabs at how long it will be before travel returns to normal and Flight Centre returns to pre-covid earnings. Management suggests FY24, with breakeven in FY21. These views are then weighed up against current valuations and whether the company has enough liquidity to get to the other end. Most believe it does. Do you know when we'll return to normal? No, nor does anyone else.

Iluka Resources reported broadly in line with forecasts. Management sees stronger mineral sands prices ahead and brokers largely agree, but note the casting off the bulk of its iron ore revenue stream (Deterra Royalties) means this will no longer be an additional earnings driver. Moreover, brokers are far more interested in the company's development ambitions than tile and white goods coatings. Iluka says it is considering constructing a rare earths refinery to process Eneabba and Wimmera monazite, and treat third-party ore. A final investment decision on Eneabba phase 3 is not expected until after mid 2022 and detail is scarce. Meanwhile the stock is considered well priced.

Infomedia's first half results were slightly below expectations because of the delayed roll-out of work which cannot be installed as yet, and the challenges of winning new dealership licences in Europe and the US given covid restrictions. UBS observes momentum has stalled, which means a flow-through of benefits from the subscription model will take time. Over the longer term the broker continues to envisage a strengthened product offering post completion of the NextGen platform. Management expects moderate organic growth in the second half. Credit Suisse believes sales conversion will improve as restrictions

PointsBet Holdings' result met Credit Suisse but missed Ord Minnett on costs, but given the latter broker is completely circumspect, noting to grow the business at the rate the company anticipates requires a significant upfront investment, we'll call it in-line. Credit Suisse expects Pointsbet will achieve long term market share in the US and Australia of 10%. The broker likes Pointsbet's competitive odds offering and believes sacrificing yield for market share will work, so long as operations are well managed. Opportunities in Ontario and New York present sizeable revenue potential, suggests Ord Minnett, and the company is well-placed with relationships and standing inside the industry if gambling is legalised in those jurisdictions.

Higher D&A meant Regis Resources missed at the headline, but underlying earnings were roughly in line. The dividend was halved to 4c from 8c despite the favourable gold price to retain funds for McPhilamys, breaking with the miner's payment track record and surprising the market. Recent weakness in the Australian dollar gold price creates challenges for the life extension at Duketon and restricts free cash flow available for McPhillamys. The miner's longer term outlook is dominated by the outcome of the McPhillamys project, so brokers await a funding strategy and a final feasibility study, while remaining positive.

WiseTech Global's solid result was in line with forecasts. Citi believes guidance for FY21 looks conservative, and upgrades to Hold. But the broker also believes market consensus forecasts for subsequent years remain too high because the company has now paused its M&A activity and with any contributions from Cargowise Neo a few years away. Credit Suisse retains a Neutral rating on relative valuation in the sector, although believes this business is well-placed to benefit from logistics demand driven by the pandemic.

Youfoodz Holdings' first half result was in line with Morgans expectations given a recent quarterly update and IPO, as B2C strength offset slightly lower B2B sales. The company reiterated FY21 prospectus forecasts, as 50% of the target has already been achieved.

	Z1P - Zip Co	BEAT	0	0	2/1/0	6.64	9.87	3

Zip Co's loss was a bit less than brokers assumed, depending which numbers one focuses on. Morgans calls a loss much greater than forecast on higher expenses, but marketing costs rose over four times with the inclusion of Quadpay, product launches (eg Tap & Zip) and increased overall brand activity, and momentum across the business is very strong, particularly in the US. UBS retains Buy. The key question for Citi (Hold) from here onwards, will be the level of investment required to support the international business, with a number of competitors having raised additional capital. Ord Minnett (Accumulate) suggests challenges remain in the UK business and more time is required before significant progress is made.

ALE Property Group's result met Ord Minnett's forecast but beat Macquarie's, but only on deferred interest rate hedges that render the beat of low quality. We'll thus call it "in line". Having rarely made changes to its portfolio in the past, the REIT has announced a detailed review. Macquaire (Hold) suspects this could be due to the underperformance of some pubs in the rent review process. This might provide for upside, but there could be a divestment/deployment lag, or there could be a buyback instead. Ord Minnett (Lighten) notes ALE has received independent valuations indicating the portfolio was around -33% under-rented at October 2020.

Alliance Aviation Services' record interim result met expectations, showing rapidly improving unit economics, excellent cash conversion and increasingly simpler accounts, Credit Suisse suggests management highlighted the outlook for the balance of FY21 remains positive and further growth is expected in FY22 and beyond. The outlook is supported by the recent Qantas Airways wet lease agreement. The update also puts to rest cash flow concerns and uncertainty around the future home of $200m of deployed aircraft capital. Ord Minnett suggests the outlook for Alliance is "rosy" driven by a shift in the domestic aviation market towards charter and contract based services.

ALU - Altium	MISS	2	0	4/1/0	34.23	33.90	5

Altium's earnings result fell short of expectation on increased costs and future margins are expected to remain under pressure before a turnaround in FY23. Brokers agree full year guidance appears stretched, as there is considerable risk in achieving a required skew to the second half. Investor confidence will require further indication of the company's ability to transition to a cloud-based platform. That said, UBS believes pent-up demand is likely to return as business confidence improves and this should mean a return to normalised pricing levels after significant discounting was experienced. Citi agrees and both upgrade to Buy to make four, with no downgrades, on a medium to longer-term view.

AWC - Alumina	MISS	0	0	4/1/1	1.98	1.88	6

Alumina Ltd posted a clear miss of all forecasts and the much lower dividend was also worse than some feared. The stock is now yielding 4.2% compared to a five-year average 7.5%. Macquarie (Sell) notes that given a covid-driven loss of demand for all of bauxite, alumina and aluminium, inventories have built up to a level of surplus that is expected to continue through 2021. While the alumina price has since swung upward, the stronger currency is countering. Management nevertheless expects the ex-China alumina surplus to moderate in 2021 before demand grows over the next five years beyond current ex-China capacity construction. Positive ratings are valuation calls following share price weakness.

AMA - Ama Group	BEAT	0	0	1/0/0	0.86	0.89	1

AMA Group's operating income was a 14% beat to UBS's forecast. The broker notes volumes for the group are recovering and will determine AMA's ability to hit its second-half operating income margins of 9-10%. UBS finds the valuation of the stock compelling and thinks if the group can achieve a good result in the second half, the stock may be in for a multi-stage re-rate.

AMC - Amcor	BEAT	1	0	5/2/0	16.96	17.00	7

Amcor's 16% first half earnings growth beat consensus despite a slightly weak result in flexibles. FY21 guidance was again upgraded, to 10-14% earnings growth from a prior 7-12%, and a $200m increase to the company's buyback program was announced. Bemis synergies continue to track well and the raw material outlook is considered relatively benign. Synergies will eventually fade but the company remains in the hunt for other opportunities. Retail demand is likely to soften from elevated levels but healthcare should pick up the slack. Brokers agree Amcor is a quality defensive. UBS upgrades to Buy.

AMP - AMP Ltd         IN LINE         1         0         0/6/0         1.60         1.48         6	MP Ltd         IN LINE         1         0         0/6/0         1.60         1.48         6

AMP's result was broadly in line with consensus. It was the announcement of the full takeover offer being dropped that set off the share price tumble, albeit Ares may still be interested in AMP Capital. Macquarie sees it differently, suggesting the focus can now return to that within management's control. This includes an unchanged cost-out target. AMP managed to get close to its FY20 cost-out target even with additional unforeseen covid costs. Macquarie upgrades to Hold. The ambitious transformation strategy still has a long way to go nonetheless, which would explain why six brokers are huddled together with Hold ratings.

divisions are offset by the uncertain domestic volume recovery and the future of the Lytton refinery. Credit Suisse (Hold) expects fuel margins will be the major driver in 2021 and earnings likely to be affected by the reduction in margin from unsustainable levels that occurred during March/April 2020. Macquarie (Buy) notes the balance sheet looks healthy and well able to fund growth and rebranding, although legal suits remain a drag.

ANN - Ansell	BEAT	1	0	5/2/0	40.96	44.18	7

Ansell posted a result evenly split on meets and beats. The company has been riding the wave of PPE demand which should continue in the near term, albeit competitors are planning capacity additions in 2021-22. All divisions nevertheless saw improved performance. Efficiencies offset covid-related costs. Ansell has taken advantage of the disruption from covid and missteps by competitors to lift its market share across the major business lines. This is considered to have placed the company in a strong position as the world starts to recover and PPE demand wanes. Underlying industrial trends remain incrementally positive and Ansell retains a comfortable balance sheet position.

APA - APA	IN LINE	1	0	4/1/0	11.19	10.65	5

APA Group's result was in line with most estimates but missed Ord Minnett, who upgrades to Buy, noting recent weakness caused by rising bond yields. Full year guidance was reiterated. The release focused on the group's "strategy refresh" that aims to expand APA's growth ambitions into electricity transmission, renewables and firming generation assets. While gas remains the backbone the company acknowledges the future is with renewables, hydrogen and batteries. Timing of the shift is uncertain. Brokers find the shift positive nonetheless. Morgans (Add) anticipates a looming capital management review to consider lowering the cost of capital and resetting the approach to distribution policy.

APN Convenience Retail's solid result was broadly in line with expectations, highlighting the resilience of the REIT in the current times, with 100% of invoiced rents being collected. Ord Minnett foresees solid upside to the portfolio in FY22 through committed acquisitions and developments, the finalisation of EG Group leases and the planned rollout and rebranding of Puma Energy sites to Caltex. Morgans suggests the key news is the agreement of commercial terms with EG Group regarding 10 year lease extensions on expiring FY22 leases.

ADI - APN Industria Reit	BEAT	0	0	1/1/0	3.05	2.95	2

APN Industria REIT reported a rise in first half funds from operations driven by new acquisitions during the period, while rent collections remain strong at 99.3%. The result beat Macquarie (Hold), although the broker was hoping for more than reiterated guidance. Lease-up of the upcoming Link expiry at Rhodes remains a focus for the broker. Morgans (Buy) suggests guidance implies an attractive distribution yield.

ATL - Apollo Tourism & IN LIN Leisure	0	1	0/1/1	0.27	0.32	2

No surprises that Apollo Tourism and Leisure was a major covid victim, posting a loss accordingly. Domestic guest revenue increased meaningfully in each region though not enough to offset the drop in international guest revenue. New RV sales showed strength, while used sales were up materially as the company focused on accelerating fleet sales to preserve liquidity. Morgans expects losses to accelerate further in the the second half due to normal seasonality and ongoing border closures. The business has managed to survive although Ord Minnett remains cautious, given the need to reinvest in the fleet and grow earnings. Ord Minnett downgrades to Lighten from Hold.

APX - Appen         MISS         1         0         1/2/1         26.68         20.06         4

Appen reported in line with recently downgraded guidance, but 2021 guidance proved once again below analysts' expectations. Credit Suisse (Hold) suspects the company's historical upgrade pattern and tendency to beat expectations cannot be relied on any more, as the earnings base has become sizeable. Revenue is also predominantly not recurring and the broker is alert for any impact from new entrants in the market. Macquarie (Sell) believes price competition remains a risk and might trigger further earnings downgrades. While liking Appen's long-term fundamentals, UBS (Hold) believes the risks remain balanced in the near-term. Ord Minnett upgrades to Buy from Accumulate on valuation.

--	----------------	---------	---	---	-------	-------	-------	---

ARB Corp's 110% growth in profit year on year hit the top end of the company's guidance range, and was in line with forecasts net of JobKeeper benefits. While the dividend increased, the payout ratio was lower than expected as the company looks to increase investment in the business. Recent improvement in new vehicle sales after a long period of decline may represent a turning point for the industry, Ord Minnett (upgrade to Hold) suggests. ARB's key vehicles, large SUVs and 4WDs, have achieved particularly strong growth in recent months. Problems with supply chains remain, but efficiencies, increased scale and a reduction in covid-related operating costs offset. Ongoing international travel bans should support demand well into 2021.

ARF - Arena Reit	IN LINE	0	0	2/1/0	2.88	3.14	3

Arena REIT reported in line but the resilience of the tenant base was the key. FY21 distribution guidance was reaffirmed. Credit Suisse highlights favourable industry dynamics including a resilient childcare sector that has helped Arena maintain 100% portfolio occupancy while increasing its portfolio weighted average lease expiry. Morgan Stanely (Buy) feels the trust is pretty much back on the pre-covid track, with less than -$20k of rent relief arranged for the first half. Macquarie (Buy) expects continued upside as neither additional balance sheet deployment nor market rent reviews are factored into guidance.

Citi does not qualify, but as Asaleo Care's earnings exceed the company's pre-announced guidance range, we'll take it as beat. Overshadowing the result is a revised proposal from Essity to acquire the shares at $1.40 in cash and a dividend of 5 cents, which is a 15% improvement on the prior proposal, and one that has support of the Asaleo board. Given there are still some uncertainties about the demand outlook and competitive environment, Citi expects this deal to proceed. Otherwise, with freight cost headwinds uncertain, there is downside risk to earnings.

The first half result from ASX either met or beat forecasts and has led to three upgrades to Hold from Sell. A stronger than expected result from Issuer Services was the highlight, but the lowlight is yet another increase in cost guidance. Looking ahead management sees ongoing pressure on interest rate trading in the zero-interest climate, buoyant equities trading, but not as buoyant as FY20, and healthy IPO activity. While diversity provides for resilience, brokers have for a long time considered ASX to be overvalued by the market and despite the upgrades, nothing has changed.

DD1 - Daby Dunning		1	0	5/0/0	5.28	6.24	5

Strictly, Baby Bunting slightly missed on the profit line due to continued investment in people and infrastructure, but brokers are so effusive over the company's performance and outlook it would be misleading to call this a "miss". Indeed, Morgans upgrades to Add to make five from five Buy equivalents. Online sales, including click and collect, grew by 100% and comprised 19.7% of total sales. Baby Bunting retains a number of key attractions including organic sales growth opportunities from its existing store network, increased online sales penetration and add-on services, as well as an expansion into NZ. The latter, clearly, more than compensates for any reservations that may have been expressed otherwise. Exceptional comparative sales performance of over 15.7% year-to-date and sustained gross margin strength keep Morgan Stanley, for one, bullish on the execution story.

BAP - Bapcor Limited	BEAT	0	1	6/1/0	8.72	8.92	7
----------------------	------	---	---	-------	------	------	---

Bapcor managed to slightly beat the updated guidance range it provided in December. February has proven slightly softer due to snap lockdowns in Victoria and NZ, but management expects some second half moderation anyway, balanced by growth in the trade business. Citi (Buy) believes full year guidance is deeply conservative, especially given the favourable changes in consumer mobility, around 12% more trade stores, 37% more company-owned Autobarn stores and acquisitions. Bapcor is not expected to lose momentum as covid impacts ease. The company is considered well placed to accelerate its organic growth and operational performance initiatives and has balance sheet capacity to pursue M&A opportunities as they arise.

BPT - Beach Energy MISS	0	0	4/2/0	2.11	1.97	6

Beach Energy's earnings fell short of forecasts. Western Flank (WF) uncertainty is considered likely to impact the stock price shorter term though portfolio diversification will assist medium term. There is concern that as WF declines, while spending on high return projects underpinned by a robust balance sheet is commendable, capital intensity of the business is creeping upwards, and therefore the outlook over the 5-year period may possibly be trimmed. Yet Macquarie, for one, maintains Buy, being attracted to further bolt-on M&A as well as the exposure to rising east coast gas prices.

Morgans (Hold) highlights ongoing positives including redirection of spend (no offshore travel), rising house prices and a strong Australian dollar. Further upside is contemplated should trade and international sales gain serious traction. Management upgraded its rollout target to 184 from 170 but Citi (Buy) does not expect the group to reach its target and expects 140 stores by FY31 due to growing online sales and the risk of cannibalisation.

Following a stronger-than-expected result Morgans lifts profit forecasts for Bega Cheese. The highest upgrades are reserved for FY23 as it's considered the Lion Dairy & Drinks base-case synergy target is conservative. The combined businesses will derive 80% of revenue from more stable branded product sales (versus 62% at present), reducing the group's exposure to volatile commodity driven bulk earnings. Earnings growth in the half reflected strong retail sales from its branded business, a lower cost base and the new lactoferrin facility.

BEN - Bendigo And Adelaide Bank	BEAT	0	0	0/5/1	8.89	10.14	6

Bendigo & Adelaide Bank's result came in well ahead of most forecasts. Mortgage growth was very strong and bad debts and funding costs fell sharply, plus the banks achieved a slight increase in net interest margin despite the headwinds. Margin pressures and low interest rates are nevertheless likely to impact revenue growth in FY22. One bone of contention is a split dividend, with another underwritten DRP. This implies a capital raising when the bank's position is already comfortably above APRA requirements. With ambitions for above-system mortgage growth and an anticipated pick up in lending to small business and agriculture, it is assumed capital may come under pressure.

Cochlear's result comfortably beat all forecasts on a favourable mix-shift, surgeries recovering to varying degrees following covid shutdowns across key regions and a greater than expected reduction in costs. The reinstated dividend was ahead of forecasts. While Cochlear Implants fell -8% and differed across geographies, the numbers improved sequentially with a similar pattern seen in the Services and Acoustics divisions. Full year guidance assumes flat CI unit sales in developed markets reflecting more recent lock-downs in Europe/certain US regions, leading to a slower second half, but gradual improvement in emerging markets. While acknowledging increased market share, brokers differ on recovery rates and valuation.

DOW - Downer EdiIN LINE005/1/05.465.996Downer EDI's result is variously described as "decent", "solid" and "pleasing", otherwise one explicit "beat" and one "miss" cancel each other out. The resumption of the dividend is nevertheless a positive signal. No guidance was offered, but brokers see this as understandable given covid impacts still linger. The company appears to be delivering on strategy and mining divestments will reduce capital intensity, thereby improving prospects for higher capital returns. Ord Minnett (Hold) is concerned all core divisions actually went backwards on the prior first half, but five Buys reflect a view of undemanding valuation.5.465.996

A solid result from Ebos Group appears largely in line with expectations, highlighting the operational leverage of the business in times of elevated growth. Animal care was the standout division, although all divisions improved except for consumer products, for which problems had been previously flagged. Two acquisitions were made during the period and management noted the acquisition pipeline remains active, with a focus on medical devices. At face value, UBS (Buy) acknowledges a net profit margin of 2% is low, albeit reflective of the core distribution businesses within the group. Citi (Hold) questions whether the elevated level of growth witnessed in the Healthcare segment is sustainable. The broker also expects very strong growth in Animal Care to weaken.

Ecofibre's first-half revenue was in line with Ord Minnett's estimate although the operating loss was more than expected. The company has revised its guidance from "break-even" to expecting a loss of circa -$7m in FY21 due to the lack of a meaningful near-term recovery in revenue. Ord Minnett remains convinced on the long-term potential of cannabis oil and hemp and views Ecofibre as a key player in the development of the industry. That said, with trading severely curtailed in the US and uncertainty on the timing of the recovery, the broker downgrades to Hold from Buy.

PROPERTY FUND

Elanor Commercial Property Fund reported first half funds from operations in line with Ord Minnett's forecast. Full year FFO guidance was upgraded 4% on the back of a resilient portfolio and rent collection remaining strong at 99.5%. The broker points out the REIT is tracking well ahead of prospectus estimate and has secured a Heads of Agreement at 200 Adelaide Street, Brisbane, which may provide further earnings upside. Elanor CPF is seen offering investors an attractive distribution yield with a history of delivering above guidance expectations.

Elanor Investors Group's asset management revenues were up 79% year on year as assets under management grew 10.5% from the end of FY20. Ord Minnett believes the group has weathered the worst of the covid storm well and activity levels are high. In the second half, the broker expects co-investment distributions to recommence, while several portfolio transactions have the potential to deliver strong gains from sale. The second half should also see performance fees being paid, following none in the first half.

Elmo Software reiterated FY21 guidance in a result that was largely pre-announced. The FY21 recurring revenue guidance range of 10-19% (half on half) growth is seen as very wide by Morgan Stanley. But in light of the economic rebound, the broker expects the upper end of guidance increasingly achievable.

EHL - Emeco	BEAT	0	0	2/0/0	1.28	1.31	2
E			1			1

Emeco Holdings' result met Morgans' forecast but beat Macquarie's. Morgans suspects the subsequent fall in share price was due to disappointment over a flat second half rental outlook and a lack of dividend guidance given an improving balance sheet. Notwithstanding, the stock had run very hard. The company continues to weigh up capital management against growth investment where sensible. Macquarie believes Emeco can deliver strong growth in FY22 from underground rental and new mining services projects commencing in FY22. Also, tendering levels remain high.

BEAT

The market was clearly caught out by EML Payments' strong result, which hit the top end of the guidance range. Strictly this should mean "in line", but positive broker assessments and a big lift in target support a "beat". The result was underpinned by better than expected revenues and strong cash conversion, Macquarie notes, partially offset by higher costs. The gift card business in shopping centres was less affected by the pandemic than UBS had anticipated and the recovery outlook is better. The PFS acquisition is proving a winner, and brokers are confident of further upgrade and re-rating potential as the market becomes increasingly comfortable about the growth profile.

Another iron ore miner, another dividend beat. While Fortescue Metals' result came in at the top end of guidance, the $1.47 dividend represented a payout of 80% when 65% was expected, which goes down as a "beat". Iron Bridge will see a capex increase of 15% before another assessment in three months, and be delayed by six months. Estimates are preliminary in nature, with a 12 week technical and commercial assessment currently ongoing. Fortescue believes a failure in culture and management led to project costs increasing by -US$400m. While plans to invest 10% earnings each year in renewables is all very laudable,

Brokers have homed in on either headline profit or operating income to inform a range of beats and misses, but in the wash-up it appears the earnings result from Lendlease was broadly in line. No FY21 guidance was provided, as expected, although management expects an operating conditions recovery to gather momentum towards pre-covid levels. Citi (Buy) expects a material earnings recovery as the impact of the pandemic eases and pipelines ramp up. Credit Suisse agrees, and upgrades to Buy, while noting ramp-up benefits remain an issue for FY23. Macquarie (Hold) sees improvement in return on capital buoyed by strong construction earnings, but warns the company remains in flux given a dilutive -25% sell-down of the retirement business, and other non-core assets.

Lindsay Australia's underlying half-year net profit was ahead of expectations. Guidance suggests a growth rate of 12% in underlying earnings. The result was supported by the expansion of the rail franchise and improved profit contribution from the rural store network. Ord Minnett (Buy) considers a -30% valuation discount to Lindsay's peer group attractive, suggesting potential exists for this to narrow. Morgans (Hold) suggests Lindsay is doing well in gradually diversifying operations into new geographies and developing new revenue streams.

LOV - Lovisa Holdings	BEAT	1	0	3/1/0	12.16	15.44	4

An upgrade to Buy from Morgan Stanley is evidence of a solid beat from Lovisa Holdings. The company almost achieved the broker's operating income forecast for the entire year in the first half. The half bore the impact of full northern hemisphere rent accruals and inventory provisions which should partly reverse in the second half. From this point onwards, Morgan Stanley suggests Lovisa offers investors an early global store rollout story. The model is considered resilient while the quality of management has been proven over the last year. Macquarie (Buy) sees an attractive recovery story given the company's fortunes are not tied to the reopening of borders, and given that it could benefit from a less competitive rental environment.

Once Morgans looks through timing issues for both revenue and costs and extends the forecast period, the net effect is an increase in target price, plus the Add rating is retained. Management has guided to a much stronger second half with positive earnings. The company recorded annualised recurring revenues of $10.2m, while sales orders secured were $10.9m in the first half. For the six weeks into the new half sales are running at $12.0m.

MFG - Magellan Financial Group	BEAT	0	0	3/2/1	55.32	51.14	6
--------------------------------	------	---	---	-------	-------	-------	---

Magellan Financial Group had pre-released some headline numbers but its result was a slight beat on forecasts. Expenses were lower, and FY21 funds management expenses are expected to come in at the lower end of guidance. Magellan's outlook contains many moving parts including a retirement product launch that is months away from regulatory approval and risks around fee compression with the introduction of lower cost products. Bedding down Barrenjoey could throw up the risk of more capital being needed. Morgan Stanley (Sell) believes earnings could be more volatile in the next few years given the need to support growth in Barrenjoey and a launch into unlisted principal investments. Macquarie (Buy) sees the recent de-rating as providing an attractive entry point.

- 1	MAI - Mainstream Group Holdings	BEAT	0	0	2/0/0	1.14	1.31	2
- 15									_

Mainstream Group's earnings were ahead of expectation, driven by a surprise uplift in operating margin. The main detraction was an emerging legal claim relating to a former client. Margins expanded due to growth in higher margin businesses (US private equity, custody), scale/automation benefits and government grants. Funds under administration (FUA) growth was considered strong and the company added around 71,000 investors to its platform with the launch of its new Quoted Funds product. The company is likely to increase its debt load to settle the legal matter. Assuming the issue is resolved in the second half, Ord Minnett expects FY22 to shape up as a very strong year.

|--|

It wouldn't be a real earnings result season without a miss from Mayne Pharma. Operating income fell below broker forecasts due to higher expenses. Revenue in the generics products division was less than expected with management attributing the lacklustre performance to the lack of usual seasonal buying in the lead up to year-end, although this may suggest potential carry-forward into early 2021. Going forward the main focus is on FDA approval of Nextstellis due in April as this could be transformational for the company. Macquarie's investment thesis balances medium term opportunities for key products with near term challenges for the generic and specialty divisions. Any delay in the delivery of these key products would present downside risk to earnings.

---------------------------------	---------	---	---	-------	-------	-------	---

McMIllan Shakespeare reported in line with recently updated guidance. Full year guidance is unchanged. The main issue over the next 6-12 months is new vehicle supply and how this will affect novated lease earnings. Macquarie (Hold) notes demand is rebounding with the order book up on last year and management expects supply to meet demand in the fourth quarter. Credit Suisse (Buy) suggests lead indicators are positive. A restructured UK business is back to a small profit and the broker continues to anticipate earnings growth as conditions normalise. Funds under administration in the Plan Partners business increased by 118% Ord Minnett (Hold) believes the company is on track to utilise its new warehouse facility by June.

MCP - Mcpherson'S	IN LINE	0	0	1/0/0	1.79	1.45	1
McPhersons' first half profit was within guidance. Ord Minnett notes. Excluding Dr LeWinn's, the portfolio produced a strong sales outcome. Guidance for the second half is materially below the first half, predicated on an uncertain outlook for key sales events in China combined with existing system inventory. Ord Minnett suspects McPherson's may attract third-party interest at current levels. A Buy rating is retained, given a valuation discount to peers and a high yield.

Health Insurance proved the key highlight. A 30% improvement in customer retention along with margin expansion and market share gains signals growth can continue. The cost-out plan remains on track with Medibank raising its FY21 policyholder growth target to above 3%. Improving policyholder growth and downgrading trends are helping alleviate some of the pressure on margins, and these should also be helped by the December quarter rate rise impacting in the second half. So why did the CEO bail? Brokers would like to know. Two upgrades (one to Buy, one to Hold) nevertheless follow.

MP1 - Megaport	IN LINE	0	0	1/2/0	13.84	14.56	3

Megaport had already published headline numbers, which begs the question why the big share price jump on the result release? UBS (Buy) found some positive surprises in the detail, including better momentum from the signing up of new SD-WAN partnerships and additional discussions on partnerships. While the headline loss was greater than expected, this was due to the stronger A$. The outlook is better now some disruptions caused by the pandemic to IT projects have dissipated, but Ord Minnett (Hold) believes strong growth in the company's business and the pending launch of new products and services are largely factored in at current share price levels.

MWY - Midway	BEAT	1	0	1/0/0	1.16	1.21	1

Midway battled its way through a tough first half and beat Ord Minnett's forecast. The broker suggests the result, led by higher volumes and the renegotiation of supply costs, reflects the first steps toward more positive trading following tough wood chip export conditions. Going ahead, Ord Minnett sees stabilising export market conditions with bleached hardwood kraft pulp prices returning to growth after bottoming in 2020. The broker is of the view Midway deserves a second look at current levels and upgrades its recommendation to Buy from Hold.

The main surprise for Ord Minnett was the allocation of $900k to costs for investigating an unsolicited, conditional approach from a third party. The parties did not come to acceptable terms to progress to a formal engagement but Ord Minnett considers the interest in the MoneyMe business at this stage of its life valid and justified. Origin Energy's result beat all forecasts. The contribution from APLNG was above forecasts while energy market operating earnings were in line with a recent update. However, lower wholesale electricity prices, retail regulation, declining Eraring utilisation, and higher gas procurement costs are expected to continue to weigh on Energy Markets earnings and therefore capital return or capex growth capacity. Management warned conditions in the electricity market will remain challenging for at least the next 12-18 months. Otherwise it's a value call among Buy and Hold raters. Macquarie (Hold) finds Origin "tempting" but suggests uncertainty around long term energy prices driven by lower input costs and government policy creates a material swing on value, exacerbated by leverage.

ORA - Orora         BEAT         1         0         1/6/0         2.73         3.01         7

Orora's result comfortably beat forecasts, on improving revenue trends across both divisions and cost savings helping profit margins in North America. The company reported 20% earnings growth in the first half and Citi (upgrade to Buy) expects 44% in the second half. Management is conservatively assuming the loss of all wine bottle sales to customers exporting to China but Citi expects at least half that volume to be redirected to other markets. The outlook for A&NZ is nonetheless a little weak and uncertainty remains in wine bottles, but the rest of the share buyback will provide support.

OTW - Over The Wire Holdings Ltd	IN LINE	0	0	1/1/0	4.25	4.51	2
--	---------	---	---	-------	------	------	---

Morgans (Hold) makes no material changes to forecasts after Over The Wire released a 1H21 result in-line with a December update. A 1.75c dividend was declared. Gross profit margins expanded year-on-year to 56% from 51%. Management said acquisitions are tracking as expected and they are comfortable with consensus forecasts earnings in FY21. Morgans cautions that delivering healthy growth in the core business has been a challenge for the company over the last few periods. Ord Minnett (Buy) believes Over The Wire as a positive outlook, given structural tailwinds provided by the pandemic and the long-term trend towards digitisation of communications.

OZL - Oz Minerals	BEAT	0	0	2/2/1	18.17	19.69	5

OZ Minerals' operating income and dividend were both higher than expected. The dividend was pleasing, as while underlying net profit was ahead of forecasts, free cash flow was weaker because of higher capital expenditure. UBS (Hold) notes the growth outlook is attractive but significant capital expenditure is required at Carrapateena and Prominent Hill. The capex issue appears the major source of broker disparity. Macquarie (Buy) believes at spot prices, the company can fund its impressive organic growth profile from its cash flows and deliver a 10%pa compound growth through to 2028. Credit Suisse (Sell) likes OZ Minerals for its leverage to copper and portfolio quality but doesn't like its price.

Pacific Smiles Group's result was well ahead of Morgan Stanley, who notes a more compelling risk/reward outlook as the company executes on a faster roll-out. Guidance presents an undemanding second half hurdle although the real attraction is the longevity of the growth cycle. The broker is seeking a better understanding of start-up losses and by how much unit economics have improved, as this could mean higher sales but also margin compression.

	PGH - Pact Group	BEAT	1	1	1/2/1	2.69	2.96	4

Pact Group delivered a solid beat of forecasts. The main concern over the years relates to poor organic earnings, but Ord Minnett (upgrade to Buy) suggests that trend appears to have come to an end. The company has reiterated a commitment to the "circular economy" and announced potential investments in plastics recycling facilities, the concept of which has garnered broker attention. Stick-in-the-mud Morgan Stanley (Sell) anticipates a reversal of one-offs will weigh on short-term earnings. With expanding capacity for recycled resin, Credit Suisse believes the group should be able to win market share as end-users of packaging drive toward sustainability goals but downgrades to Hold on share price reaction.

Depending on which metric brokers highlight, Telstra equally beat and missed with its result so we'll call it in line. Morgan Stanley retains Sell but believes the market will take comfort from reiteration of full year guidance and the unusual step of reassuring investors early regarding second half dividend guidance. Thereafter, brokers are looking ahead to just how the three parts of the business will be valued post the pending split. This process appears to underpin the split of ratings. Completion is not due until late in the year, so expect more of the same for some time.

Vicinity Centres' result beat all forecasts but was of low quality, driven by surrender payments and a greater than expected write-back of covid provisions. To that end we'll call it in line. Operating challenges will continue with the cessation of government subsidies and possible increases in vacancies. No guidance was provided. The outlook for a similar write-back in the second half is more limited given almost all of the waivers have already been agreed upon leaving the provision the only source of upside. The second half will be aided by Melbourne coming out of lockdown, but most brokers remain cautious on the outlook. Credit Suisse downgrades to Hold.

VRT - Virtus Health	BEAT	0	0	2/0/0	5.47	6.90	2
Virtus Health posted a solid first half FY21 result, ahead of forecasts, with volume growth and margin improvement the key highlights. Despite disruptions, each business unit delivered a material acceleration in growth. While growth is expected to moderate in the second half, demand drivers remain intact and comparables are expected to become easier. Morgans is particularly pleased with the interim dividend, further debt reduction and a strategy to become a global leader in precision fertility.

Viva Energy's substantial loss was in line with guidance, and considered reasonable against a tough backdrop, with retail and commercial performing well while refining continued to drag. Retail volume guidance was not provided and a slow recovery in Alliance (Coles) appears likely given the weighting to metro areas. Confidence appears to be building around a long term government support package for refining. Share buybacks are likely to resume post a refinery decision. Retail margins are expected to improve once oil prices stabilise. In the near term, any earnings recovery is expected to be gradual.

Westgold Resources' result was in line with Macquarie's forecast. Development expenditure on Big Bell remained elevated in the half as expected, but the broker assumes spending will reduce and free cash flow improve over 2021 as the ramp-up continues towards steady-state production. Big Bell's progressive ramp-up over FY21 remains important to realise the broker's longer-term production expectations.

Woodside Petroleum's 2020 profit and final dividend were below expectations, due to higher second half costs from operating expenses, shipping and marketing, and inventory movement, although these appear largely temporary. The recovery in Brent and LNG prices should mean earnings materially improve from here, but the elephant in the room is Scarborough. Woodside is determined to defend its credit rating, but is yet to sell down Pluto-2, let alone Scarborough. If Scarborough can't be sold down, the risk is of farm-outs below intrinsic value, lower dividends or a capital raise, Citi (Hold) warns. Other brokers concur.
