MARKET COMMENTARY:

1. Local market started positive on US bounce and then was further boosted by RBA unnecessary QE. The market was jammed up by mainly global investors on a low turnover day. RBA upgrades growth and talk up recovery and then delivers QE upgrade. QE is the second level emergency move. Rates are 10bps and staying low for years, wages growth not for years, now more QE but we have V shape recovery. Apart from an asset bubble and corporate sector boost to help election cycle for the government, the move makes no sense. RBA can't be doing this to bring down AUDUSD. That was already started to play out due to EU downgrade and market risk off. RBA can't be doing this to boost wages growth and inflation, because they have been spinning alternative facts since 2015 rate cuts. RBA has the phenomenal ability to badly time rate cuts and QE. Once again this will bail out the top end mates and do nothing for the averaging Australian. It's a zero-sum game. RBA is taking money from savers, retirees and investors and handing it over to zombie businesses.

Welcome to the new form of capitalism... socialism for the top end being paid by the bottom end while being dressed up as saving the economy. All the handout to bailout the corporates in the last year will have to be paid and the tax man is going to hit the middle to low income after the election later this year. Economy will be too weak in a deleveraging cycle next year and the government needs to run to an election before the freebees finish and reality bites. It is a matter of time before RBA starts buying apartments from developers to help the property market and the biggest donors of the government...ignore the fact that developers cannot actually donate to political parties in NSW. The main issue here is the effect going to last? Probably not...(1) USD is breaking bad to the upside on risk off and Euro downgrades. That will be a bigger factor in bringing AUDUSD down than RBA. (2) Inflation in Australia is irrelevant as it is all about US. They are getting inflation and costs are rising. Irrespective of the what RBA does, bond yields are going higher on global inflation outlook. (3) Australia is caught juggling multiple asset bubbles...property and markets...but we are not in charge of its destiny.

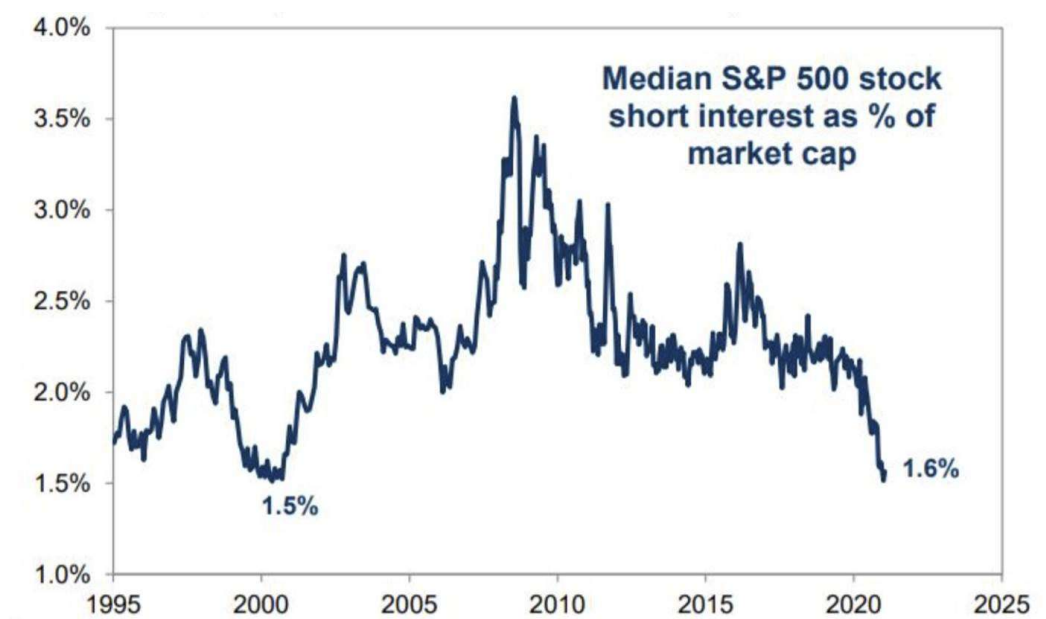

Reflation is the antidote to asset bubbles and leverage. RBA or the government has not come up with a solution and that boost negative on US lead before currency lead bounce had global to deleveraging. The lazy answer is add more debt to solve a debt problem. The bond markets are moving and we can see the structural problems in the markets and economy. Short squeeze like Trump is not the reason we have market uncertainty, it is the byproduct and not the reason. Structural problems in the economy being covered up by money printing is just buying time and not solving issues. Markets are stimulus junkies and Central Banks are drug dealers. Reflation is the deleveraging cycle that will cure the world from stimulus addiction.

Let us look at a few signals...

- (1) USD has moved above 50 day Moving Average and breaking the down trend cycle since the pandemic crash...risk off trade?

- (2) S&P 500 short interest was near historical lows at mid Jan...and you can only assume it's even lower now...peak optimism?

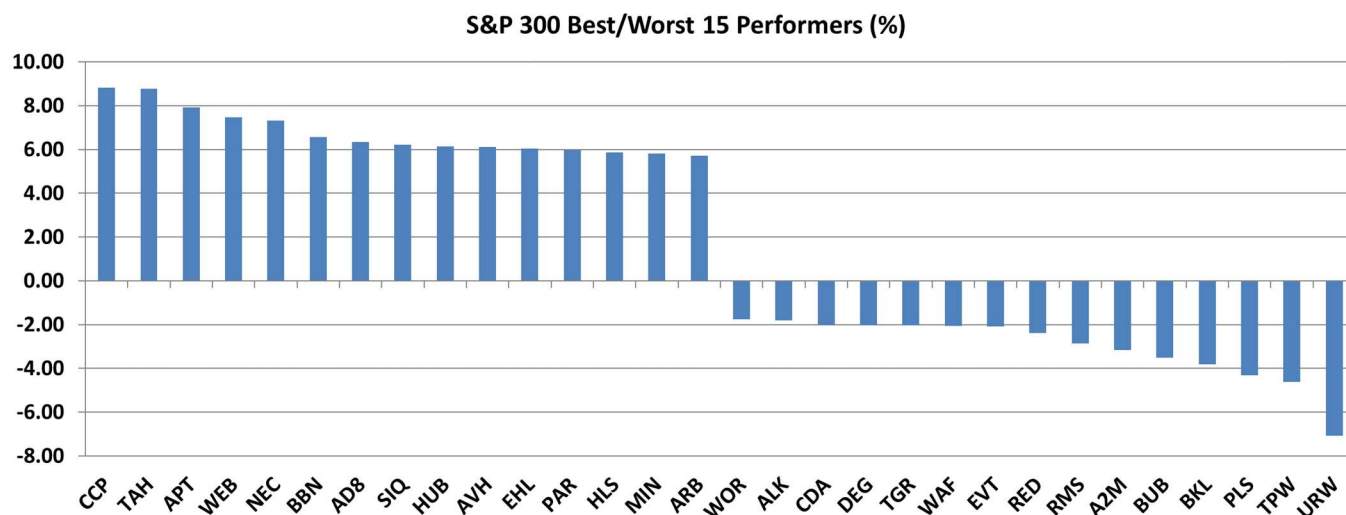

- (3) Aussie 10 year bond yield hits post pandemic high...reflation taking off?

Comments on US market last close > US market bounced back to a positive day to start Feb after a negative Jan. To put it in context, DOW had the 5th positive day out of the last 16 trading days. The bounce was in line with global trend. Gold and Tech sectors lead the green day. European growth was downgraded and that dragged Euro down and pushed USD higher. USD has broken down trend and will weigh on commodities sentiment. NASDAQ and RUSSELL were nearly matched as bonds climbed. We are in weird times... equities, bonds, USD and Gold were higher. Time to wait for the dust to settle in seasonal weak cycle.

Remain nimble, contrarian and cautiously pragmatic with elevated global macro risks!!! Buckle up...it's going to get bumpy!!!

4. Credit Corp (CCP +8.83%) > All segments either met or exceeded expectations. Aus/NZ debt buying and consumer lending businesses achieved expectations while the US outperformed. Despite limited organic purchasing Aus/NZ collections remained in line with the prior year. Productivity improved by 7% over the prior corresponding period (pcp), producing solid segment NPAT growth. Collections reduced over the December quarter in accordance with the phased withdrawal of COVID-19 support measures but remained in line with expectations. ASX
5. Centuria Industrial REIT (CIP +0.00%) > Jesse Curtis, CIP Fund Manager, said, “The first half of FY21 has been a transformative period for CIP driven by landmark acquisitions and significant portfolio leasing which has continued to position CIP as Australia’s largest domestic pure play industrial focused REIT. The industrial sector has continued to strengthen with sector tailwinds from e-commerce and tenant demand supporting investor appetite and driving asset values. “The portfolio expanded with the acquisition of nine new high quality industrial assets providing exposure to a range of industrial sub-sectors including cold storage, data centres, manufacturing, transport logistics and distribution centres. Growth of the portfolio led to inclusion in the S&P/ASX 200 Index and the REIT is now well positioned for potential future inclusion in the FTSE/EPRA NAREIT Index. ASX
6. Temple & Webster (TPW -4.62%) > Temple & Webster CEO, Mark Coulter, said “I am pleased to present a great set of results for the first half of FY21. While 2020 remained a challenge for the country, we are proud that many Australians continued to turn to Temple & Webster for their furniture and homewares needs. It is great to see our revenue growth translating into operating leverage and significant profit growth. This allows us to accelerate our investment into areas such as data, technology, private label and brand awareness to further differentiate our proposition”. ASX

US markets overnight - Reuters

U.S. stocks ended sharply higher on Monday, led by gains in technology shares after last week's steep market sell-off, while mining shares rose as the retail trading frenzy shifted to silver.

Investors also watched talks over the latest U.S. COVID-19 relief package.

The iShares Silver Trust ETF, the largest silver-backed ETF, jumped as silver broke above $30 an ounce for the first time since 2013, with retail traders jumping into the metal after betting billions of dollars on stocks last week.

Miners Hecla Mining Co, Coeur Mining Inc and Wheaton Precious Metals Corp surged.

"The retail trader focus today seems to be on silver, and it's considered to be a small pocket of the market," said Quincy Krosby, chief market strategist at Prudential Financial in Newark, New Jersey.

But even though the recent trading frenzy may have changed course, it has likely not gone away, she said. "The fact of the matter is this is a powerful move in the markets, and it's not just going to dissipate."

The S&P 500 technology sector gave the S&P 500 its biggest boost in the broad rally. Microsoft and Apple were among the biggest positive influences.

Unofficially, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 229.92 points, or 0.77%, to 30,212.54, the S&P 500 gained 60.19 points, or 1.62%, to 3,774.43 and the Nasdaq Composite added 330.94 points, or 2.53%, to 13,401.64.

U.S. President Joe Biden will meet 10 moderate Republican senators on Monday to discuss their proposal to shrink his sweeping $1.9 trillion U.S. COVID-19 relief package, even as Democrats prepare to push legislation through Congress without Republican support.

Wall Street's main indexes last week logged their steepest weekly fall since October, as investors digested efficacy data from Johnson & Johnson's COVID-19 vaccine trial results, and a battle between Wall Street hedge funds and retail investors added to volatility.

The CBOE volatility index eased on Monday from three-month highs that were fueled by a surge in shares of GameStop Corp, AMC Entertainment Holdings and others that burned hedge funds that had bet against the companies.

Robinhood, the U.S. online broker that has emerged as a gateway for amateur traders challenging Wall Street hedge funds, has held talks with banks about raising $1 billion in debt so it can continue to fulfill orders for heavily shorted stocks, according to a Reuters report, citing people familiar with the matter.

Focus also will be on more quarterly earnings reports this week.

The latest ISM survey was mixed as U.S. manufacturing activity slowed slightly in January, while a measure of prices paid by factories for raw materials and other inputs jumped to its highest level in nearly 10 years.
